

DATA COLLECTION:

- We used an accelerometer sensor to measure the vibration of the bearing.
- The accelerometer was calibrated and positioned with a 45-degree tilt on the bearing cover.
- The shaft connected to the bearing is subjected to a load of around 3.5 kg.
- Currently, the port is used to gather vibration data in unit 'g', which is then sent to the computer.

